SCHOLARSHIP FAQs

I plan to pursue an ACE field but am not yet sure of my chosen specialty. Is that OK?

Yes. For example, you might list “engineering” as your chosen major as an incoming freshman and take multiple engineering-related classes, then specify “civil engineering” later on.

What if I want to take a few ACE-related classes in college but intend to pursue another field? Scholarships granted by the ACE Mentor Program of Oregon are to support students who plan to study and pursue careers in an ACE field related to build, design and construction.

What if my career goals change along the way? Will this affect my scholarship? Scholarships are awarded in four payments. Scholarship recipients apply annually to ACE to request a disbursement and verify enrollment and field of study. Students who switch to a field unrelated to an ACE field of study should expect to forfeit any remaining scholarship amount.

What if I have a special circumstance regarding my education? ACE recognizes that special circumstances do occur. You may share those circumstances with ACE and explain, with supporting documentation, how you intend to pursue an ACE-related career. Students should be aware that it is their responsibility to maintain and document their eligibility. Typically, ACE will not approve scholarship disbursement requests for educational paths that fall outside traditional ACE fields.
